Sizing Up the Cost of Living; No Clemency

Groceries take the biggest bite out of your pay check, but Victor Lawrence writing in Monday's Shreveport Times says the percentage of wages spent on food today is the lowest in years. Not much comfort in that for housewives battling H.C.L., but Lawrence comes up with these figures:

In 1930 food took 24 per cent of income.

In 1940 the percentage dropped to 22.

By 1962 food's cost was down to 20 per cent.

And today it requires only 16.2 per cent of a person's take-home pay.

As Mr. Lawrence puts it graphically in the case of meat:

Back in 1951 it took an hour's pay to buy 1.7 pounds of beef—but today the same hour's pay buys 3.3 pounds.

I am reminded of the old saying, Figures don't lie—but liars do figure... and that's how a lot of housewives are going to react to the Shreveport article.

But I don't question Lawrence's figures. A person writing for publication generally has his piece well researched beforehand. In a left-handed way he is reminding us that high prices are the other face of the high payroll coin.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's remark in the Senate Monday about Southern soldiers being "traitors" for fighting the Union in the Civil War was utterly uncalled for. Nor did his qualifying statement excuse him. AP reported:

"Kennedy said he wouldn't refer to such people that way himself, but others have so described them."

Kennedy knows as well as the next man that the Civil War was a clash of entire sections of the U.S. There was nothing personal about it.

Today's objectors to the draft, for whom Kennedy was urging clemency, did have a personal stake in defying the law of the land—they fled to Canada while their fellow men fought and died overseas.

Kennedy's words are doubly irksome because he hails from New England—a section which historians largely blame for shoving America into the Civil War.

Farm Prices Keep Rising

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sharp $3-per-hundredweight rise for hogs helped raise prices farmers received in February by 2 per cent from a month earlier, the Agriculture Department reported Tuesday.

But expenses also rose 1 per cent in the month ended Feb. 15 and were 5 per cent more than February 1971, the Crop Reporting Board said.

The higher rate for hogs, plus another record high for beef cattle and increases for some other commodities also pushed the traditional 1910-14 parity ratio to 73 per cent, up 1 point from January and 3 above February last year.

Hogs at mid-month averaged $25.70 per hundredweight, compared with $22.70 in January and $19.20 a year earlier. But they still lagged below the peaks of mid-1970 before near-record production caught up with the market and tumbled prices.

All beef cattle which includes every type from canners to prime, averaged $32.60 per hundredweight in February, up from the previous high of $31.40 set the month before.

The January average broke a 21-year record of $30.30 set in April 1951.

Over-all, the board's mat animal price index was 6 per cent higher than in January.

Liquid milk sold to plants was down, averaging $6.06 per hundredweight, off 7 cents from the month before. A year earlier, milk averaged $5.91 per hundredweight.

Farm prices for eggs also were down again, averaging 28.9 cents per dozen, compared with 29.8 in January and 32.6 a year earlier.

Blaylock for Governor

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former state Welfare Commissioner Len E. Blaylock, saying he wanted to bring two-party government back to Arkansas, announced today that he would run for the Republican nomination for governor.

"If Arkansans are to have the benefit of competitive government and freedom of information, two-party government needs to be brought back to Arkansas without delay," Blaylock told a news conference. "It is a pity that we have to wait until November."

Plans Are Now Being Made for 3rd District Show

Plans are now being laid for the 28th Annual Third District Livestock Show and Rodeo to be held in Hope the last week in September.

Every effort is being made to make this show the biggest and best Hope has had for many years. Royce Pendergrass, Coordinator at Red River Vocational Technical School, is serving the Third District Livestock Show Association as President, and committees of local citizens are being formed to handle each separate aspect of the show. Committees have been appointed in the following areas: Rodeo, Rodeo Prize, Open Horse Show, Parade, Fair Queen Contest, Exhibit, Carnival, Publicity, Advertising, Livestock Show, Quarter Horse Show, and Added Attraction.

Thus far, there have been joint meetings of the Prize, Open Horse Show, and Rodeo Committees; and the Fair Queen, Parade, and Exhibit Committees. Joint meetings of other committees and the committees individually are scheduled throughout the next few weeks.

This year, the show will be kicked-off Monday afternoon with the parade, followed by the Fair Queen Contest that evening. Contacts are already being made to get floats, bands, etc., to participate in the parade; and to get a contestant from each county in the Third District in the Fair Queen Contest.

Bids are now being let for the construction of a new horse barn to be completed prior to the show. An Open Horse Show has been added to the events and the carnival is being expanded.

Ribbon Cutting Opens T.G. & Y. Family Center

Senate Not Likely to Tag Amendment to Busing Bill

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate defeated 67 to 26 today a proposal of Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., to deny federal officials power to prevent any child from attending the school nearest his home.

The amendment, offered to the higher education-school desegregation bill, was a version of the neighborhood school proposal which Ervin has sponsored unsuccessfully in previous legislative battles over school desegregation.

The amendment was the first voted on as the Senate began its final day of consideration of the mammoth bill.

The Senate adopted 90-2 a second Ervin amendment stating that any racial balance busing orders issued must be under constitutional standards which shall be applied equally throughout the nation.

Managers of the bill said this now was the law under the 1964 Civil Rights Act and that they had no objection to restating it.

Under earlier agreement, the final vote was to come by 2 p.m. today.

The measure then goes to a conference with the House, which put three major antibusing riders into the version it passed in November.

The Senate voted 50 to 47 Tuesday to reverse itself and reject a proposal by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., to prohibit federal courts from ordering busing to desegregate schools.

Civil-rights advocates were confident they could keep any tough antibusing riders out of the bill in today's debate.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., had pending an amendment which would guarantee parents the right to have their children attend neighborhood schools.

Ervin said he would follow this with a proposal to guarantee pupils the right to attend any school chosen by their parents.

Similar proposals have been rejected in previous years.

Although generally ignored in the uproar over busing, the bill would revamp federal programs to help college students and institutions of higher education and would provide increased U.S. funds to both.

In addition, the bill includes the $1.5-billion school-desegregation program originally requested by President Nixon in March 1970.

The Senate revised the President's proposal to put stricter guidelines on spending the money in an effort to insure that it produces quality integrated education rather than just desegregation.

Also included in the bill is a $390-million Indian-education program.

Major Storm Shaping

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A major late-winter storm was taking shape this first day of March, after record-breaking warmth had ushered out February in much of the nation.

The mercury soared well into the 80s from Southwest Texas to extreme Southern Nebraska Tuesday afternoon, and readings in the 70s or low 80s were common south of a line from Maryland through Southern Iowa and through Northwest New Mexico to Southern California.

But a major storm, centered in the Central Plains, began developing, accompanied by bitter-cold arctic air in the North-

Another Irish Killing

BELFAST (AP) — Gunmen killed one militiaman in front of his daughter Tuesday night and murdered another one today as he climbed into his car. Terrorists also seriously wounded a policeman and a British soldier Tuesday.

The attacks were blamed on the Irish Republican Army and brought the death toll in Northern Ireland's communal warfare to 253 in the last 31 months.

The latest victim of terrorist bullets was militia Pvt. T. J. Fletcher. Four gunmen shot him outside his home in County Fermanagh.

Two hooded gunmen knocked on the door of Harry Dixon, a militia sergeant in Armagh, just before midnight, then burst in and shot him in the head. His 11-year-old daughter witnessed the killing and was wounded in the leg.

Gunmen hiding on the grounds of a factory in Newry shot a policeman in the head, and a sniper in the Little Diamond area of Belfast shot Sgt.

Oklahomans Sentenced

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Three Oklahoma men received prison sentences and were fined in Circuit Court here Tuesday in connection with the Christmas Eve death of Mary Dotson, 16, of Lavaca.

Ronnie Burt, 27, and David Fout, 24, were given one-year prison terms and fined $750 each. Kenneth Hixson, 24, was given a three-year sentence and a $750 fine. All are from Muldrow, Okla.

They were found guilty last Thursday of involuntary manslaughter in the death of Miss Dotson.

All three are free on $4,000 appeal bond each.

John McPherson in the temple after the soldier's unit helped put down a riot there. The army flew a brain surgeon from Britain to operate on him and brought his wife from Germany to his bedside.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Brian Faulkner accused Prime Minister Jack Lynch of the Irish Republic of timid handling of the IRA.

"It is as plain as a pikestaff," he said, "that without the free haven of the republic the terrorists would be run into the ground within a very short time."

"Is he—Lynch—admitting that his government holds office by courtesy of a gang of murderers?"

"Are the resources of decency and democracy really so low in the republic that concern for the lives of people has to take second place to the political sacred cow of 'ultimate aspirations for unity'?"

$10 Million Investment

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Board of Finance voted Tuesday to invest $10 million in federal securities that will mature Aug. 15, 1974 at a yield of 4.94 per cent.

The investment raises the state's investments in federal securities to $48.4 million—$21 million of which has come since late January.

Large Diamond Is Found

MURFREESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Doug A. Gilliam of Nangua, Mo., found a six-carat diamond at the Crater of Diamonds near here Tuesday.

The stone was white and oval, according to a spokesman at the crater. No estimate of the value of the gem was made.

Second Biggest Troop Cut of War by U.S.

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced the second biggest troop cut of the Vietnam war today, leaving fewer than 10,000 American combat infantrymen and artillerymen in the Saigon, Cam Ranh Bay and Da Nang regions.

Among the units included in the 4,940-man reduction was the 2nd Squadron of the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment. The night before one of its 1,060 men was killed and five were wounded in a clash 24 miles northeast of Saigon.

The other big unit was the 5th Battalion, 42nd Artillery, whose authorized strength was 600 men.

In all, 32 Army units and one small Air Force detachment were phased out.

The U.S. Command said it was the largest single reduction since last July 1, when 6,095 troops were pared. The cutbacks today reduced total U.S. strength in Vietnam to fewer than 120,000 men from a peak of 543,000 in April 1969. President Nixon has ordered this force cut to 69,000 by May 1.

The clash in which the armored cavalry squadron suffered its casualties was one of three fought Tuesday by units from the 1st Air Cavalry Division in the Saigon region.

Two fights flared after an American patrol detected an enemy squad moving toward night campsites near fire bases Gibraltar and Fiddler's Green, a U.S. spokesman said.

The U.S. troops engaged the approaching enemy and called in rocket-firing helicopters for support, he said. One American and one enemy soldier were killed and five Americans were wounded, the spokesman reported.

The third fight broke out about 40 miles east of Saigon in Long Khanh Province.

"Our guys were on patrol, spotted some enemy in the jungle and tried to set up a hasty ambush," said a military source. "Shots were exchanged. They fired B40s (rockets) and three of our guys were hit."

The Americans reoriented killing one enemy soldier.

To the north, U.S. B52 bombers continued pounding North Vietnamese base camps southwest of Da Nang and in the central highlands northwest of Kontum.

The South Vietnamese command claimed the number of enemy killed rose to 99 in two days of ground fighting south of Da Nang and north of Hue. Its own losses, the command said, were 11 men wounded.

Along the central coast in Binh Dinh Province, South Vietnamese forces reported killing 11 enemy soldiers in scattered action near three district towns. No government casualties were reported.

The Cambodian command reported that 13 enemy soldiers were killed in sharp fighting on Koh Sotin Island in the Mekong River about 45 miles northeast of Phnom Penh.

Israel Planes Strafe Guerrilla Bases

By DAVID LANCASHIRE
Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli forces crossed the border to attack today for the fifth day in less than a week as fighter-bombers strafed and bombed Arab guerrilla camps in the desert of southern Syria.

The Syrian army placed the assault 60 miles south of the capital of Damascus and said three guerrillas and two Syrians were killed.

The air and artillery assault was a reprisal attack against guerrillas based in Syria who had fired at Israeli positions in the occupied Golan Heights 13 times in the past four days, the Israelis said.

The Israeli military command said all planes returned safely, despite Arab claims of intensive antiaircraft fire. Seven Arab guerrilla centers came under fire, a military spokesman said. Israel accused the Syrian government of supporting and encouraging the guerrillas.

The attack into Syria—the first since Jan. 24—came after four days of Israeli operations against Arab guerrillas in southeast Lebanon. Israel claimed about 50 terrorists were killed in the Lebanese operation, which ended Monday.

Today's raids appeared to have the same aim as the attacks into Lebanon—to break up guerrilla concentrations and to force the Arab government to clamp down on guerrilla operations.

The Syrian army was accused of handing over camps to the guerrillas, and training, arming and feeding them. Syrian President Hafez Assad was quoted as telling an Arab newspaper last year—when guerrillas hit Israel 39 times in two months—that "we are strengthening them and spurring them on."

A Syrian army communique said the shelling began at 3:15 a.m. and "the enemy opened mortar, artillery and tank fire on three Syrian villages opposite the cease-fire line. Our positions returned the fire. Two citizens were killed, a woman wounded and a school destroyed in the barrage."

The Syrian communique said the air attack began four hours later when "a formation of enemy planes penetrated Syrian air space and bombed Palestinian guerrilla positions near the town of Dera'a in southern Syria."

Meanwhile, Arab gunners in Lebanon fired a number of Soviet Katyusha rockets at the Israeli development town of Kiryat Shmona in Upper Galilee early today. The Israelis returned the fire and reported no casualties.

The Lebanese government denied reports that guerrillas clashed with Lebanese troops who moved into the Arkoub region after the Israeli withdrawal Monday.

The area of more than 100 square miles on the western slopes of Mt. Hermon was abandoned by the army under a 1969 agreement that allowed the guerrillas to use it as a springboard for operations into northern Israel.

The return of the army appears designed to stop the guerrilla forays that provoke Israeli reprisals.

Funeral for Victims

MAN, W. Va. (AP) — Funerals began today for some of the 71 known victims of a flood that ripped down 17-mile-long Buffalo Creek last Saturday.

Crews continued to clean up the flood-torn coal-mining valley in southern West Virginia and search for more bodies, as thousands of homeless persons lined up at the Man High School to apply for federal disaster aid programs.

State Health Director Dr. N. H. Dyer declared the area, filled with debris and mud, a public health and safety hazard to prevent the spread of disease.

Health officials have been giving typhoid shots to residents of the Buffalo Creek hollow.

Where 5,000 persons once lived, National Guardsmen estimate only about 1,000 remain. None has utilities and many are bunched together in hillside houses which escaped the floodwaters.

Many persons are still unaccounted for, but the number fluctuates as refugees come down from the mountains where they fled.

Two Won't Seek Office

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The leaders of the both the Democratic and Republican parties in Arkansas said Tuesday night they had no present plan to seek public office this year.

However, neither Jos Purcell of Benton, chairman of the state Democratic party and Charles T. Bernard of Earle, the state GOP chairman, would definitely state they would not seek office.

Purcell and Bernard both said in a television interview they planned to remain at the head of their respective parties. The two appeared on KARK-TV's "Faceoff" show which was taped for telecast next week.

Purcell said he was practicing law in Benton and had no plan at the present time to run for elective office.

"I have no plan to run for office," he said. "I have no definite plans at this time. However, I have been known to file on the last day of filing."

Other Nations Are Blamed for U.S. Trade Deficit

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The 1971 deficit in merchandise trade with the rest of the world, the first suffered by the United States since 1888, is usually blamed by protectionists on unfair trade practices by other nations.

They point to the U.S. loss of its share in a wide range of basic products—steel, automobiles, electronics, textiles—as the result of tariffs, subsidies, low-wage rates and currency imbalances.

All these factors are involved. Consider just the latter, the matter of currency ratios. Since the end of World War II France has devalued its currency five times, Italy three times, England twice.

The effect of such devaluations was to solve imbalances in the foreign payments of these nations but at a cost to other countries of an upward revaluation of their currencies.

The net result was easier trade for the devaluers and a more difficult time for competitors. The major adverse impact was on the United States, which at the same time was sending abroad $345 billion in aid and investments.

Still, many advocates of protectionism for the U.S. market fail to consider some of the other factors. The fact, for example, that the output of the U.S. manufacturing establishment has failed to keep pace.

Or stated another way, that the United States has failed to invest heavily enough in plant and equipment modernization and that therefore it cannot compete efficiently.

Productivity increase is the key to remaining competitive, assuming that competitive conditions are otherwise fair. But productivity is not growing in the United States as strongly as it is in some competing nations.

The comparison becomes clear when related to wage costs. Such costs per unit output rose only one per cent in France between 1965 and 1970, and only 4 per cent in Japan. But in the United States, wage costs rose 21 per cent.

Is this because wages are rising so fast? It might seem so, but that isn't the only factor and probably not the critical one. That problem of the old machinery is the more likely cause.

This is an explanation that some manufacturers find difficult to accept, but the fact is that wage rates, though rising from a smaller base, have actually ascended faster abroad than in the United States.

Labor costs have contributed, of course. So have high expenditures for social services that Americans once did without but which they now demand. But capital and management failed also by failing to keep plants modern.

The solutions to the trade deficit, therefore, are clearly seen to be within as well as without, and that is premise upon which the nation seeks solutions. While seeking to lower trade barriers abroad it seeks also to modernize its plants and keep wages and prices in balance.

Wants Hoover for Berrigan Testimony

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Claiming it is "unreasonable and oppressive," the government fights today to quash a defense subpoena ordering FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to testify at the conspiracy trial of the Rev. Philip Berrigan and six others.

Hoover told a Senate hearing 15 months ago that Berrigan, an antiwar priest now imprisoned for destroying draft records, was involved in a plot to kidnap presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger. The seven were indicted months later.

The subpoena commands Hoover to appear "forthwith," together with Norman A. Carlson, director of the U.S. Bureau of Prisons, and all records available involving Boyd F. Douglas Jr., the defendants, five accused but unindicted co-conspirators, and 13 others imprisoned for antiwar actions.

FBI informer Douglas, a fellow inmate of Berrigan in the Lewisburg (Pa.) federal penitentiary for eight months until he was paroled, is the government's star witness.

Douglas has been on the stand since Monday afternoon, telling how he smuggled mail in and out of prison for Berrigan while mailing copies of the letters to the FBI.

The defense struck a blow at Douglas' credibility Tuesday by disclosing in the absence of the jury that he sought a tax-free

$50,000 reward from the FBI as the price of helping "the government obtain enough evidence to prosecute these people."

Douglas asked for the cash in October 1970, nearly two months before Hoover told of the alleged conspiracy.

Defense attorneys said the Douglas letter, given to them by the government, was proof of their charges that the trial was a frameup. They demanded that the FBI disclose how much money Douglas was promised and how much he had received. U.S. District Court Judge R. Dixon Herman rejected the motion.

The subpoena served on Hoover also asked for all of Douglas' prison disciplinary, work, medical, psychological and psychiatric records, plus all memoranda involving the witness in Justice Department files.

Gazette Sued Over an Ad

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Texarkana attorney Nicholas Patton said Tuesday that a suit against the Arkansas Gazette had been mailed to Chancery Court in Pulaski County.

The suit, which is being filed by state Rep. George Davis of Horatio, seeks to require the newspaper to publish an advertisement submitted in early February by Davis, who has announced as a Democratic candidate for governor.

The advertisement was headed "Elect a Democrat Governor," and contained a reproduction of a letter to Davis from Lawrence F. O'Brien, chairman of the National Democratic Committee.

Hugh B. Patterson Jr., publisher of the Gazette, said Tuesday he would reserve comment until the suit was filed.

Protect Consumer, U.S. Court Orders

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today held the Federal Trade Commission has broad powers to protect consumers from unfair or deceptive acts by merchandisers.

In a 7 to 0 decision involving S&H trading stamps, the court said Congress never intended to limit the regulatory agency to simply policing specific antitrust violations.

Justice Byron R. White said the FTC may take into account "public values beyond simply those enshrined in the letter or encompassed in the spirit of the antitrust laws."

At the same time, however, the court did not uphold FTC charges against the Sperry & Hutchinson Co., a manufacturer of S&H Green Stamps and the leader in the trading stamp industry.

The complaint was based on alleged violations of the antitrust laws and FTC did not challenge a federal appeals court holding that there was no violation.

The case was sent back to the agency where there may be further proceedings.

Sperry & Hutchinson, which has sold more than one trillion stamps since it went into business in 1896, was charged by the FTC in 1965 with suppressing trading stamp exchanges and other "free and open" redemption of stamps. Though the company does not attempt to restrict private exchanges of stamps between housewives and other consumers it has moved vigorously against what it considers to be unauthorized commercial exchanges and redeemers. In an eight-year period the company filed 43 injunctions against merchants who redeemed or exchanged stamps and it threatened legal action against 140 stamp exchanges and 175 businesses.

Brandt's Power Is Trimmed

BONN (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt's majority in the Bundestag was trimmed from six to four Tuesday by the defection of a Social Democratic deputy opposed to the 1970 treaties with the Soviet Union and Poland recognizing German territorial losses from World War II.

It was the first reduction in Brandt's majority in the lower house since his coalition of Socialists and Free Democrats took office in October 1968. The two parties now will have to be even more vigilant in getting their members to the Bundestag sessions for the votes to ratify the treaties.

Two Acquitted in Shootout

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — David B. Reneau, 71, and his daughter—in-law, Sharon Joyce Reneau, both of Doddridge, were acquitted in Circuit Court here Tuesday on charges stemming from a 1971 shootout.

Reneau was charged with first-degree murder in the death of Floyd Ward. Sharon Reneau was charged with assault with intent to kill in Ward's death.

Ward died Sept. 14, 1971, in a shootout at the Doddridge store operated by Reneau's son, Carl, who also died in the shootout. The Reneaus had contended they acted in self-defense.

Senate Leaders Invited to China

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The two top Senate Leaders, former Far East history professor Mike Mansfield and Chinese art expert Hugh Scott, have been invited to visit China.

They hope to make the trip in late spring or summer and, in Democratic Leader Mansfield's words, "add a few more bricks" to the foundation laid on President Nixon's just-completed journey.

Nixon relayed Premier Chou En-lai's invitation to Mansfield and Scott Tuesday, then received praise from congressional leaders as he reported on his own historic mission.

Mansfield, who visited China in 1921 as a Marine private and who still holds a professorship in Far East history at the University of Montana, has been trying to visit China for two years. He was last there in 1944.

The White House also said Tuesday that President Nixon had spoken with Chinese leaders about John Thomas Downey, an American pilot held in China since the Korean War.

"The matter was discussed from the standpoint of mercy and compassion," said White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

Downey, charged with espionage in 1952, had his sentence commuted from life to five years last December.

Ziegler refused to disclose details of Nixon's discussions about Downey.

Republican Leader Scott, who has one of the country's most extensive private collections of Chinese art, last visited the mainland in 1947.

He met Chou while a U.S. delegate to a meeting of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization in New Delhi, India, in 1950.

The Pennsylvania Republican said the formal invitation to himself and Mansfield will be made when U.S.-Chinese contacts are established in a third country, possibly in about two weeks.

Scott said the trip couldn't come until Congress is in recess, possibly at the time of the national political conventions this summer.

Earlier in the day, before he went to the White House to meet with Nixon, Mansfield told reporters his primary objective in making a trip to China would be to "revisit old scenes" and not necessarily to meet extensively with Chinese leaders.

At the time he met Chou, Scott called the Chinese leader "a very dynamic, personable man" and said: "If he were selling Fuller brushes door to door, he would make a million."

Mansfield reported that the bipartisan leadership group that heard Nixon's report "was unanimously in favor of the President's trip and what he accomplished."

Scott said Nixon told the congressional leaders that U.S. troops on Taiwan, once 10,000 strong, would be reduced from the current level of about 8,000 to 2,000 as U.S. forces are phased out of Indochina, but that complete withdrawal won't take place until Taiwan and the mainland government reach a peaceful settlement.

Special Turkey Dinner in School Lunchrooms

On Thursday March 2nd, the lunch room workers will serve a turkey dinner at the high school cafeteria with proceeds going to send workers to school for a course in sanitation and nutrition.

Anything well advertised is half sold. This maxim is proven daily in twentieth century America as the general public spends millions of dollars and pennies on items it has been convinced are desirable.

The lunch program is a good product. Recognizing this, efforts are made at all levels to "sell" the students on the lunch program.

The power of positive thinking is never more visible than is the school lunch program, when students think their school has a good lunch program. The participation is greater, the plate waste is less.

In the past few weeks committees visited in lunch rooms. The School is genuinely interested in the health and well being of your child. The school lunch program is a good horse. It has all the attributes of a winner, but it needs a good jockey to bring it to the finish line. Your child can serve as this jockey. A well nourished child is a happier child.

All the workers wish to express sincere appreciation to all who have in the past and present participated in their program.

Escapes Injury in Plane Crash

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Jack Armstrong of Houston, Tex., escaped injury Tuesday night when he was forced to land his single-engine airplane on U.S. 71 near Locksburg.

State Police said Armstrong was approaching the Texarkana airport to make a refueling stop en route from Chicago to Shreveport, La., when his engine lost power and the plane began to lose altitude.

Armstrong said he landed the plane on the highway and taxied the craft onto a parking lot in front of a roadside cafe.

Armstrong said he did not know what caused the plane's engine to fail.

Harding College Group Coming Here

SEARCY—The fame of the Harding College Belles and Beaux, who will present a program at 7:30 p.m. March 3 at the Hope High School Auditorium has spread across the country and around the world through six tours sponsored by the National Music Council and USO shows. The group, organized in 1959 to entertain military personnel in the United States and abroad, is under the direction of Dr. Kenneth Davis.

In 1959 the group toured the Fifth Army in the Mid-Central States, in 1960 spent five weeks touring the Far East, in 1962 won a nine-week tour of Europe, in 1964 went island-hopping in the Caribbean Command for four weeks, in 1968 spent eight weeks again in the Pacific Command, and in 1969 spent four weeks in the Northeast Command touring Greenland, Labrador, and Newfoundland.

Between major tours the singers keep busy with performances for civic, school and church groups in Arkansas and many other states. Shows in recent years have thrilled audiences in Detroit, San Diego, Miami, Houston, New Orleans, St. Louis, Memphis, Dallas, and others.

The theme of the two-part show is The Old Days and Up To Date and includes songs ranging from a medley of the Old West to the hit tunes of current Broadway musicals. Solos, duets, instrumental numbers and novelty acts combine to make the performance a fast-moving and unforgettable evening's entertainment.

Tickets can be bought at the door, $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — There must have been a majority of gray-heads in the audience of NBC's Tuesday night variety special called "The Fabulous Fifties."

The program, frankly nostalgic, was a period piece for the generation that recalls World War II rationing and pin-up girls and taps its toes to the music of the era. Tennessee Ernie Ford was host, with Betty Grable, singer Dick Haymes and Maureen O'Hara making what can truly be called rare television appearances, if you don't count old movies.

Ford, for once outside his pea-picking patch, sang and joined the production numbers, but the show belonged to the guests.

Miss Grable once again exhibited her famous gambs in a white tie and tail dance number in the Berkeley manner. Haymes, now gray and a bit thin on top, ran through some of his old hits in a voice that, if anything, has mellowed over the years. Miss O'Hara, apparently little touched by the years, uncorked a pleasant singing voice.

It did cheat a lot chronologically on the music, counting anything that was played in a film of the 1940s as belonging to the decade—even George M. Cohan's "Yankee Doodle Dandy" and Eva Tanguay's "I Don't Care," both from an earlier period.

Frank Gorshin did some of his film star impressions—James Cagney, of course, and Al Jolson. Then he jumped a couple of decades to imitate Richard Burton talking a song from "Camelot"—a good bit but out of place.

All in all, it was a lavishly produced and bouncy hour. Meanwhile, ABC's "Movie of the Week" was involved in a wild and woolly plot for a series in the horror genre, "The Eyes of Charles Sand."

The story was a hunt for the killer of a young man, and the hero is one of the currently fashionable investigators, a man with a unusual gift. Charles Sand, played by Peter Haskell, has The Sight, an inherited ability to see hidden truths which he generously shares with the camera.

That was not enough, so the story was played out in an enormous old mansion, with a mad woman roaring around with a carving knife, a dead body in a wall and lots and lots of screaming. It was noisy and busy and if there is an audience for eerie stuff, the program might fill a slack hour in next season's schedule.

In 1945, Soviet troops were besieging the outer defenses of Berlin.

Beauties Just Talked, No Leap Year Action

By TAD BARTIMUS
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI (AP) — Bored buxom beauties served up plenty of talk but little Leap Year action for a batch of wealthy bachelors who competed for the egg rolls instead of the blondes.

If Cupid was aboard Dr. Sydney Sacks' sumptuous houseboat Tuesday night, he may have been dodging cigarette butts under the dirty bubble bath in the sunken Roman tub—or he missed the boat.

In its inaugural hour, the party billed by Bachelors International members as a "Leap Year Gala" seemed to go smoothly enough.

Half of the club's 35 members showed up in the expensive velvet jackets or spiffy knitted body suits that their $29,000-a-year-plus salaries make it easy for them to afford.

Also making the scene were about 20 international lovelies who displayed a lot of bosom, a little leg and the thickest false eyelashes money could buy. As prearranged, they dutifully entered their telephone numbers in the "quest book."

But as Miami's fabled moon shone a glimmering pathway on nearby Biscayne Bay, the well-laid plans of the party's plotters seemed to go awry.

Steering clear of the dimly lit, lushly carpeted white living room, the "swinging singles" gravitated more toward the kitchen than each other.

The caviar, though not out of mind, was out of sight. Rumbling stomachs were appeased with popcorn, potato chips and peanuts.

Two hours into the festivities, however, cohost Leo Rosen appeared with piping hot egg rolls. It was the highlight of the evening, and he was mobbed.

Peruvians, Israelis, Britons and other foreign guests rounded up by club members suddenly found themselves deserted as mostly middle-aged men put down their plastic champagne cups and made a dive for the oriental goodies.

An Afro-haired drummer and the two other musicians hired to entertain the revelers bravely struggled through the last few bars of "If Ever I Would Leave You," then headed in the same direction.

"This," said one fed-up female, "is getting to be a drag." Tossing down the last of her domestic bubbly, she walked out into the night. Alone.

Color in New Fashion

By ANN HENCKEN
AP Fashion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — While many designers are indulging in bright plaids or natty beiges, designer Arnold Scaasi likes "all the pretty colors"—especially pink.

"It's the most flattering color," Scaasi said Tuesday, relaxing after a spring-summer showing of his made-to-order line, priced $850 to $1,500.

His dresses have names such as "pink frosting" and "pink thistle." They may have ruffles at the throat and the waist—and white-on-pink lace.

He uses geranium pink for a wool pants suit with a white halter top.

Pink ostrich feathers are snuggled with black ones on the skirt of a short cocktail dress with black bodice.

Open a white coat and find a pink and black rainbow print. Count the pink flowers on a fluffy white floral print evening dress.

Pair a pink plaid coat with matching A-line dress. Scaasi also likes dots—and confetti prints with millions of multicolored sprinkles tossed over a blouse or black evening dress.

However, he says the clothes are pretty but not elegant. "I hate 'elegant.' Our lives are more interesting," says

Tech Seeks New President

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Members of the presidential search committee to find a new president for Arkansas Tech College here were announced Tuesday.

A president is being sought to replace Dr. George L. B. Pratt, who resigned effective July 1.

Members of the committee are E. E. Hudson, chairman of the Faculty Senate; R. A. Young, vice president of administrative affairs; Dr. Richard Morrissey, head of the Department of History and Political Science; Dr. Harlan McMillan, associate professor of biology; Bobbie Taylor, assistant professor of geography; Mike Wheeler of Fort Smith, a member of the student Senate; Johnny Nutt of North Little Rock, president of the Tech Alumni Association and Melvern Watson, head of the Department of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Convention for Delegates

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Democratic State Committee voted Tuesday to have a special state convention to choose the party's delegates to the Democratic National Convention this year.

Joe Purcell of Benton, the state party chairman, immediately named a committee to recommend procedures for holding the state convention.

The vote to abandon a popular election of 80 per cent of the state's delegation in favor of the state convention method was expected. The committee had earlier gone on record in favor of a state convention method.

A 1971 law had required the mandatory popular election of 80 per cent of the delegates, but the special legislative session that concluded earlier this month repealed the act and gave parties a free hand to choose the way they wanted to select delegates.

Many Democrats had felt the state convention method was the best way to hand pick a delegation that would be solidly behind the presidential candidacy of Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D., Ark., and at the same time meet national party guidelines requiring that the delegation be representative of a cross-section of the voters, including blacks, youth and women.

School Group Meets

The Auxiliary Sub-Committee of the Citizens Committee for Better Quality Schools met Monday night. Members present were Chairman Bill Gunter, Barbara Buchholzer, Ruth Felder, Elaine Burch, Wesley Huddleston and Doyle Shie's.

The committee had studied the Physical Education Program in Hope Schools the past week. The Helen Help Us!

"I WANT HER BACK," WAILS MALE
Dear Helen:

My wife left me. She's at her mother's. Has been for a week. I have to admit the whole affair is my fault as I have been moody, mean, and very much a stupid fool. I either jumped on her or sat around and didn't talk, thinking only of myself and not of her feelings.

I've begged and pleaded with her that I've changed and know how wrong I was, but she won't give me another chance. She says she loves me but she won't live with my sulky disposition. I don't understand. Why can't a woman forgive? She knows I love her. —H.A.

Dear H.:
You left out one important piece of information: How many times has this happened before? If it's a one-blow-up brannigan, and your moodiness came from legitimate worry (or perhaps those quite normal first-year-of-marriage blues), then your wife is probably only teaching you a lesson—and she'll be back by next week. She may already be wondering if part of it wasn't her fault—and I'd guess it was.

But if you have constantly closed her out over the years, "reforming" only when she announces she's through—well, this may be the final announcement, unless you back up your apologies with a promise to consult (and heed) a marriage counselor.

Either way, good luck! —H.
NOTE TO READERS: It's strange how often my "husband-wife" mail follows a pattern. The man writes, "I've been a fool. How can I get her back?" while the woman bristles, "Don't you agree he's a no-good bun?" Could this mean the female of the species is often more vindictive than the male—or just that men are more honest about their faults?

...Or maybe it's due to early conditioning: the old-fashioned but still quite prevalent concept that men must beg favors while women bestow them.

...Or perhaps the CONTRITE man is more likely to ask a columnist's help, while the fellow who is sure he is right feels he doesn't need it—especially from a woman who might take his wife's side. —H.

Dear Helen:
My husband and I were married ten years and we started a divorce last fall. Then we decided to go back together a month ago.

I don't want to be married, but only live with him, because we get along beautifully when we don't have that piece of paper to bind us.

Our divorce will be final in two months. In the interests of a happy relationship, should we let it go through? —WORRIED MIND

Dear Worried:

Why don't you stop the divorce but hide your marriage certificate?

Dear Helen:
What do you think of this ghastly and expensive business of deep-freezing people who are pronounced "legally" dead of some incurable disease, so that later on when a "cure" is found they might be resurrected and brought back to life?

Even if it could work (which it can't), isn't this tampering with God's will? —SHOCKED AND SICKENED

Dear S and S:
I don't consider this "ghastly" or immoral, but I'm afraid it's wasting from $15,000 to $20,000 on a very fragile hope.

However, who am I to say what science may do in the future?...And wouldn't it be great to have a second chance at life at some distant time when you might profit from the mistakes you made before? —H.

Porkers Bomb Baylor, SWC Lead Still Tied

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Texas, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian survived another round of pressure-cooker Southwest Conference basketball games Tuesday to remain tied at the top but Texas A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf predicted it will be the Longhorns in the NCAA playoffs.

"There was no pressure on us and we played a very loose game ... It's a good question why we can't do this more often."

Should Texas defeat TCU Saturday and SMU beat Baylor the two teams would meet next Tuesday night on a neutral court for the right to advance to the NCAA playoffs March 11. Should TCU and SMU win those two teams would meet in a playoff.

Another Porker

MARK HOLLINGSWORTH

Arkansas Razorback end Mark Hollingsworth is the fourth Porker that will be present at the All-Sports Hope High School banquet scheduled here Saturday, March 4 at 7 p.m. in the Third District Livestock Show Coliseum. Various awards will be handed out at the annual event which is sponsored by the Bobcat Booster Club.

Jerry West Is the Mr. Clutch

By TOM EMORY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry West's shooting has earned him the name "Mr. Clutch." So it isn't surprising when his great shooting wins a game.

The Los Angeles Lakers' guard, with 11 years as a professional in the National Basketball Association, was the spark Tuesday night in a 114-111 victory over the New York Knicks.

It was West's field goal after 12 seconds of the fourth quarter that gave the Lakers the lead. It was another Mr. Clutch basket.

ket in the last half minute that iced the game for Los Angeles. The 33-year-old star scored 32 points, 22 in the second half.

At an age when many ballplayers are checking their retirement plans, West is checking the opposition for the NBA playoffs. The victory over the Knicks clinched the Pacific Division title for the Lakers and puts the team on a collision course with the Chicago Bulls, the runner-up team in the Midwest Division of the Western Conference.

"It's been a relatively easy season," West said, toiling off after the Knicks' contest. "Coach (Bill) Sharman has been resting me. It makes it easier for me and it helps the team."

"Is he thinking retirement?" "So many people have retired me," he said. "But I'm not sure what I'm going to do. I'd like to keep playing but I'm just going to wait and see. Meanwhile, I have the playoffs to think about."

Despite a team filled with stars—Wilt Chamberlain, West and the now-retired Elgin Baylor—the Lakers have never won an NBA title. The players are thinking "this is the year."

The Lakers set a professional sports record of 33 straight victories earlier this season, and have a chance at eclipsing the NBA record for victories in a single season. The team needs 12 victories to break the 68-victory record set by Philadelphia in 1966-67.

It appeared another steady performer, the Knicks' Jerry Lucas, held the thunder when he bombed in four straight baskets starting the game. New York held the lead until late in the first quarter, then regained it five minutes later. The Knicks managed to maintain the lead until West's fourth-quarter field goal.

Class A Tournament

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Green Forest, with a 10-point splurge by Sammy Davis, jumped to a 25-14 halftime advantage and coasted to a 54-44 victory over Lavaca in the first round of the Class A senior boys basketball tournament in Little Rock Tuesday.

Davis led Green Forest with 20 points and Bill Williams finished with 16. Steve Sartain had 14 for Lavaca.

In other action, Monette defeated Clarendon 75-70 and Charleston rolled over Atkins 92-64. Randy Terry and Ralph Eckle combined for 61 points in the Charleston victory over Atkins.

Terry hit 22 points in the first half and saw limited action in the second half with Charleston out front 52-28 at the half.

Terry finished with 31 points and Eckle had 30.

Jim Steele scored 28 points and Darrell Bridges added 25 more to help Monette defeat Clarendon.

Monette took the early lead and controlled 33-27 at the half. Monette led by as much as 10 points midway in the third quarter.

Robert Hester had 30 points for Clarendon.

Class B Meet Results

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sophomore Kent Stubbs hit three clutch field goals to boost Mayflower to a 62-61 victory over Portland in the second round of the Class B senior boys state basketball tournament in Little Rock Tuesday.

Mayflower trailed most of the game, but was in close contention, and a 15-footer by Stubbs tied the score late in the fourth period.

Portland got a one-point lead, which Stubbs wiped out with a 12-foot jump shot with 58 seconds left, and he hit another from 22 feet with 22 seconds left.

In other action, Wilmar crushed Kirby 78-55 and Menifee defeated Valley Springs 71-58.

Wilmar, behind the shooting of Sherman Ingram, scored 48 points in the second half, to surge to victory over Kirby. The score had been tied 30-30 at the half, but Wilmar used a full-court press and caused several Kirby turnovers.

Menifee jumped to an early lead and never trailed in the victory over Valley Springs.

Menifee held a 35-30 halftime lead and outscored Valley Springs 20-11 in the third period.

Gary Heagan led Menifee with 20 points. David Coffey was the only Valley Springs player in double figures with 27 points.

Cougars Liked That Day Off

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Carolina Cougars, given a day off by the American Basketball Association schedule-maker could hardly relax Tuesday night.

Sandwiched between Pittsburgh and the Floridians in the three-way fight for fourth place in the ABA's East Division, the Cougars didn't quite know whom to root for when those two clubs went against each other.

The Floridians wound up on top 14-126 and moved one-half game ahead of Carolina in the standings. The loss dropped the Condors 4½ behind the Cougars.

In the only other ABA game played Tuesday night, Utah defeated Memphis 125-115.

Al Tucker's 22 points paced the Floridians past the Condors. Pittsburgh, which got 44 points from George Thompson and 33 from Bob Verga, bounced from behind and led 120-114 with less than five minutes remaining.

But the Floridians tightened up, stealing several passes and converting them for baskets that gave them the lead for keeps.

Utah got 65 points from Willie Wise and Jimmy Jones and breezed past Memphis.

The Stars, leaders of the ABA's Western Division, were down by seven points at halftime but took control in the third period and coasted after that.

Wise finished with 33 points, one more than Jones. Memphis' Charlie Williams led all scorers with 35.

Bopdaveille Heads Field

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Bopdaveille, owned by G.M. Holtsinger, heads a full field of allowance horses, with top weight of 122 pounds in today's $10,000 feature race at Oaklawn Park in Hot Springs.

The race is for 4-year-olds and up a 1 mile and 70 yards.

However, Bopdaveille, trained by Doug Davis Jr. is on the also eligible list and must wait for a scratch for a chance to perform.

The closely matched field also will include J.M. Hart's Mini Singer at 111 pounds.

Others in the field are Jandy-mar, 119; Askaleader, 113; Royal Ruffian, 119; Red Charmer, 119; De mzee, 113; Signor Valenti, 113; Long Decision, 119; Proven Flight, 119; Pago Moon, 116; Satin Gold, 119; Run For Tom, 108; Big Jr., 113; Everett's Last, 110, and Sleep Top, 110.

Red Tomao, trained by Bud Rapp of Hot Springs, put up a strong drive in the final furlong and edged out the fast-closing and surprised U. Pos Ent by a head to win Tuesday's $10,000 feature at Oaklawn.

Some of the equally surprised Oaklawn fans collected win mutuels of $30.80, $13.80 and $7.80 as overlooked performers continued to dominate the feature

Nicklaus Closing in on Goal

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer
MIAMI (AP) — Jack Nicklaus is closing in on one of his most cherished goals—passing Arnold Palmer on the all-time money winning list—and could achieve it with a victory in this week's $150,000 Doral-Eastern Open golf tournament.

"It's something I'd very much like to do, particularly with Arnold still playing," the 32-year-old Nicklaus said Wednesday before a practice round on the 7,065-yard, par 72 Blue Monster Course at the Doral Country Club.

"You always like to be the first in as many categories as possible."

Nicklaus, in his 11th year on the pro tour, picked up $29,640 last week for his second place finish behind Tom Weiskopf in Jackie Gleason's $260,000 Inverrary Classic, the richest event on the schedule this year.

That boosted his career total to $1,447,030.86. Palmer, 42 years old and in his 18th season, beat only one man in the field in the Gleason with finishing rounds of 80-79 and won only $400.

Palmer, the game's all-time leading money winner for about a decade, now has a career total of $1,471,226.83 of which $263,330 was won in the seven years before Nicklaus turned professional, an era of relatively small purses compared with the present multi-million dollar tour.

Nicklaus trails by only $24,195.97. First prize in the Doral-Eastern, which begins its 72-hole run Thursday is $30,000. Palmer, stung by one of his poorest performances in recent years, is not competing.

And Nicklaus, as usual, is one of the favorites in the stong, 144-man field. A victory would vault him into the No. 1 spot on the all-time list with almost $1.5 million.

Some of his chief challengers include Weiskopf, Lee Trevino, Tony Jacklin of England, South African Gary Player, Masters Champion Charles Coody and defending title-holder J.C. Snead.

Trevino showed flashes of his old brilliance last week before fading and said he's now ready to "get down to some serious golf." Player made a run at the title in his first American start of the year and Jacklin has played very well in his last two starts.

Gophers, Ohio State Battling Once More

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Minnesota and Ohio State are battling once again ... for the Big Ten basketball lead.

The two rivals, who staged a donnybrook last month that resulted in two Minnesota players being suspended, surged back to the top of the wild and woolly Big Ten race Tuesday night. Unranked Minnesota edged Purdue 48-43 and 14th-ranked Ohio State crushed Illinois 103-70 while No. 16 Michigan, which had a half-game lead entering the night's play, bowed to Indiana 79-75 and fell a half-game behind.

The big noise nationally, however, came down South where unheralded North Carolina State stunned third-ranked North Carolina 85-84 on Paul Coder's three-point play with seven seconds left.

Elsewhere, second-ranked

Gillman Joins the Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys hired former San Diego Coach Sid Gillman Tuesday to set up a research and development department in which the Super Bowl champions will intensify their study of National Football League personnel.

Gillman will be a special assistant to Coach Tom Landry much as Ernie Allen.

"We feel they can add a lot in researching new ideas and trends taking place in the NFL," said Landry of the Gillman-Alten duo. "And obviously, Sid's vast experience in the NFL totally and in the American Football Conference specifically can be of great value."

Gillman will hold the title of special assistant to the head coach. Neither he nor Allen will have field duties although they will assist the staff in assembling pre-game information. It is a second time General Manager Tex Schramm of the Cowboys has played a part in hiring Gillman, when Schramm was general manager of the Los Angeles Rams, he hired Gillman as head coach.

Gillman has a 35-year coaching career. His record at San Diego was 86-54-6. Illness forced him to resign as coach after nine games of the 1969 season, but he returned for 11 games of the 1971 campaign. The team was 4-7.

Schmidt then took a look at the Big Ten stretch drive. "Ohio State has a tough game at Indiana, which is playing very well. Minnesota's awesome. Michigan is probably at a disadvantage with two of three on the road."

The Wolverines lost a road game Tuesday to Indiana, although they wiped out an 11-point halftime deficit. Joby Wright paced the winners with 24 points while Henry Wilmore had 27 for Michigan.

SYDNEY (AP) — Karen Moras, Australian women's swimming captain for the Olympic Games, said today she will leave the hospital over the weekend and resume training for Munich by next Wednesday.

Karen, 18, was injured Sunday in a collision between the car she was driving and another vehicle.

"I thought I had broken every bone in my body," she said. "But X-rays and tests have shown no breaks. I'm really lucky."

Aaron Gets Rich Contract

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Hank Aaron, who holds five major league and 11 National League batting records, holds another record of shorts today—he probably is the nation's highest paid baseball player.

Aaron, with 639 career home runs and only 75 away from Babe Ruth's record of 714, signed what was believed to be a three-year contract Tuesday at a salary reportedly in the neighborhood of $200,000 a year. Braves President Bill Bartholomay said Aaron had been signed to "a multi-year contract at the highest salary ever paid a Braves player." He did not cite figures.

"My contract does represent a lot of money," Aaron said. "But I feel like I've been compared with other players as equal or better than they are, only the salaries didn't match up. Now I'm on an equal basis there, too."

The 38-year-old Aaron is third behind Ruth in career homers. Willie Mays, 41, has 646.

Chavez Organizes Farm Workers in Florida

By IKE FLORES
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI (AP) — Cesar Chavez has urged migrant field workers to join in new "areas of struggle" after his farm workers union won an unprecedented labor agreement covering 1,200 citrus harvesters.

"We have to make this contract a living reality," the Mexican-American farm labor organizer said Tuesday after announcing the signing of the new pact with Coca-Cola's Minute Maid Corp.

"If you don't help other workers to organize, it will place Coke at a tremendous disadvantage and it will be like killing the goose that laid the golden egg," Chavez told followers and new union members.

The new contract between Minute Maid and Chavez' United Farm Workers Organizing Committee marks the first time in Florida that a grower had recognized a union as bargaining agent for field workers.

The three-year agreement carries an effective date of Jan. 3, 1972, and wage increases and some other benefits would be retroactive to that date, Chavez said.

The pact came under fire from the Citrus Industrial Council as "an absentee-type contract between a conglomerate-type of company with a lot of other interests besides citrus."

Council President Fred Adkinson said, "I doubt it will be a guideline for either harvesting hands or harvesting companies."

The comments indicated that UFWO organizers seeking further contracts for the state's estimated 150,000 migrant and seasonal workers would meet strong opposition from the citrus industry.

Cesar's cousin Manuel has been organizing field laborers in the citrus, vegetable and sugar industries in Florida since last July.

The Chavez cousins founded the AFL-CIO union after years of strikes and boycotts in California vineyards, vegetable farms and fruit orchards.

"We are here to stay and to organize," Cesar Chavez said.

"We only hope that other companies follow their (Coca-Cola's) lead and we don't have to get into the type of situation that we did in California."

The agreement covers 300 full-time and an estimated 900 seasonally employed agricultural employees at Minute Maid fields.

Minimum hourly salaries for full-time workers will go from $1.80 to $2.25 and maximums from $2.25 to $3.70. Seasonal employees will receive lesser increases in wages and piece-work rates.

The contract also provides for adjustment sin vacation schedules, sick leave pay, compensation rates, minimum assured hours of work for hourly paid employees and other benefits.

Intervention in Ireland Rejected by President

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has rejected suggestions that the United States intervene in Northern Ireland, and says it would take more than a congressional resolution to change its mind.

"Sweeping declarations by outsiders" could make matters worse, Asst. Secretary of State Martin J. Hillenbrand told the House Europe subcommittee Tuesday.

He urged Congress to reject resolutions proposed by more than 80 members calling for some kind of U.S. action in Ulster. Hillenbrand said the administration stands by Secretary of State William P. Rogers' Feb. 3 statement that America "would respond most sympathetically" if asked by Ireland and Britain to mediate.

"In the absence of a request from both parties," Hillenbrand said, "U.S. intervention would be both inappropriate and counterproductive."

"We believe that a resolution urging us to offer our good offices would not in practical terms alter the U.S. position which Secretary Rogers has outlined."

He also said congressional approval of any proposed resolutions on Ulster could generate exaggerated expectations which are beyond U.S. power to fulfill and therefore might interfere with dissolution of Ireland's political strife.

The most popular resolution, sponsored by Sens. Edward M. Kennedy and Abraham A. Ribicoff, calls for withdrawal of British troops, a halt to internment of alleged terrorists, and reunification of Ireland. Kennedy testified Monday the third point would be the only complete solution.

But Hillenbrand told the House subcommittee the Irish do not agree that unification is the solution and added:

"The leaders of Ireland fully recognize this and they have been on reserve in their condemnation of those who would attempt to bomb Ireland into unity."

Chairman Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., announced the House subcommittee may travel to Ireland, Ulster and England and meet with leaders of the three countries on their efforts to end the strife that has pushed Northern Ireland toward civil war.

Testimony in Murder Case

MARION, Ark. (AP) — Testimony was to continue today in Circuit Court here in the first-degree murder trial of Anderson E. DuBois, 24, of Courtland, Ala.

He is charged in the June 14 death of Mack Howell, 42, of West Memphis, whose body bore five .22-caliber bullet wounds when discovered in a field a quarter-mile from his house.

Ten men and two women were selected Tuesday to be the jury.

Nell Howell, widow of the victim, was among seven state witnesses Tuesday. She testified her husband left their house with two men shortly before dawn on June 14 and that she could not identify them.

She said that about 3:30 a.m., a loud knock on the front door awakened her and when she answered the knock a man asked, "Is Mack home?"

Another man was leaning on the Howell auto in front of the house, Mrs. Howell said.

When her husband went to the door, she testified, the man said, "Step around the corner." Later, concerned about her husband's lengthening absence, she went out to look for him, but found no trace of him, she said.

Mrs. Howell said that while looking for her husband, she heard three "loud pops" that sounded like someone was "clapping boards together."

She returned home, tried to use her telephone, but the line was dead, she said. The telephone wires outside the house had been cut, she testified.

Charles Ashley of West Memphis testified that he found Howell's body while walking to work about 7:30 a.m.

Pros. Atty. Gerald Pearson of Jonesboro told the jury in his opening statement that the evidence would show that Howell's death was a "brutal and merciless" slaying that would "deserve, cry out for and demand the supreme punishment."

The state has asked for the death penalty.

Man Who Achieved His Goal Is a Dull One

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — There is nothing duller than a man who has achieved his goal.

His life from then on seems curiously empty and inert. He is like a sack that can no longer stand upright. He is drained.

The way to fresh horizons and a happy life is to have ambitions you can never really achieve except in daydreams. This keeps you cheerful.

Here are a few goals I'd like to achieve myself—if I weren't kept so busy walking my treadmill in other ways:

Carve a new face on Mt. Rushmore with a screwdriver.

Button my lip.

Find a prerogative and exercise it.

Have a lovely beach maiden in Bali peel me a coconut.

Join a good safe three-wheel motorcycle club and wear a black leather jacket with a skull and crossbones insignia on the back.

See something that boggles the imagination.

Catch a Mississippi River catfish bigger than the boat I fished from.

Bake a hot cross bun.

Bend an iron bar between my teeth and the ones the dentist sold me.

Trump up an excuse. I can hear it now—trump, trump, trump.

Be sent to jail for starting an earthquake.

Invent a Martini that would evaporate before you could drink it.

Win an argument with a talking horse.

Take a round trip to Mecca on a flying carpet—first class.

Engage someone in a rapier duel at dawn behind the Louvre, preferably someone nearsighted and with very short arms.

Throw an enemy into a bottomless pit and then have a nice lunch while waiting to hear him splash.

Make not one but five mountains out of a molehill.

Have an hour's conversation with the ghosts of Socrates and Emily Dickinson.

Teach geometry to Cleopatra on a Nile-wafted barge.

Inherit money.

Remember, if a man makes only one of his daydreams come true—particularly that one about inheriting money—his life will not have been lived in vain.

Two State Crime Probe Underway

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Daily Oklahoman reported today that police officials of Arkansas and Oklahoma are huddling in a two-state probe of criminal activities.

The newspaper said the probe included reports of crime "societies" in the two states swapping killers, arsonists and others connected with violence.

The investigation was unveiled Tuesday as Oklahoma officers flew to Little Rock for an intelligence conference. Oklahoma Bureau of Investigation agents met with teams of state and local Arkansas investigators.

The coordinated effort is an apparent outgrowth of a raid earlier this month on an Arkansas Mountain hideaway, the Cedarvale Club, described by police as a hub of regional criminal activities.

One of those who participated in the raid, Dist. Atty. James A. Clark of Ardmore, said the target of the current probe will be the power structure of organized crime.

"It is obvious from the complexity of this whole thing that the criminal element in the area is a two-state operation," he said.

Dossiers on suspected members of the two-state criminal family were submitted by Little Rock Criminal Prosecutor John Jacobs during Tuesday's lengthy meeting.

Oklahoma Bureau of Investigation agents asked the Arkansas officials for help in finding two persons sought as material witnesses in Oklahoma crime investigations, particularly in connection with the Cedarvale Club.

Jacobs said that he has evidence that criminal cells are in existence in Oklahoma City, Atlanta, Ga., and Houston, Tex. He said many of them are apparently tied closely with the activities of the so-called Dixie Mafia. A natural triangle, he said, exists for cell operations from Dallas to Tulsa and then to Little Rock and New Orleans.

Trigger men, bombers and other criminals, he said, "are keeping the roads hot" between Oklahoma and Arkansas and that much of the traffic is that of "crime messengers going from Little Rock to Tulsa."

Other information exchanged Tuesday indicated the cells, which label themselves as "societies" are doing a multi-million dollar business in burglaries, stolen goods, stolen credit cards, counterfeiting, murder and bombing.

Pulaski County district attorney's office files show evidence that some Oklahoma grand jury witnesses may have died as the result of plotting by society leaders in Little Rock.

Jacobs said he had evidence a Sept. 22, 1968, bombing of the Starlight Supper Club in North Little Rock was planned by an Oklahoma society.

The Starlight was owned by Arthur Isaac Hale, 43. Hale was manager of the Cedarvale.

The Little Rock prosecutor said that the late Aries Delbert Self signed a statement saying that he was in on the Starlight bombing, that he stood lookout while others inside debated whether to use gasoline or dynamite to set off the explosion.

After testifying before a Tulsa County grand jury, Self was found slain in his Tulsa apartment. Thomas Lester Pugh has been charged with murder in the Self slaying.

Jacobs said Pugh had been charged in the Starlight bombing, but that the charge was dismissed after Self died.

An Arkansas State Police captain said it was known that many eastern Oklahomans implicated in various crimes had made frequent visits to Little Rock and Texarkana and that secret meetings were staged to plan criminal activities.

He said that while their activities stretched through many southern states many of the lieutenants were "calling the shots" from hideouts in both Arkansas and Oklahoma.

The Arkansas district attorney's dossier listed more than 50 names, but officers said that the group probably numbered more than 300.

After English colonists from Virginia captured Nova Scotia from the French, King James I gave the territory to a Scotsman, Sir William Alexander.

Probe Cost

State $2,306

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The investigation of Interlock, Inc. ordered by Gov. Dale Bumpers cost the state $2,306.25.

That was the amount of the bill submitted to the governor's office by former Securities Commissioner William F. Sherman, a Little Rock lawyer, who was on the three-man investigating team.

The other two members of the team were Tom McRae, an aide to the governor, and current Securities Commissioner John Selig. McRae said Tuesday that neither he nor Selig received any compensation beyond their state salaries for the work they performed.

The investigators' report, made public last month, concluded that it was a conflict of interest for two former state law enforcement officials — Ralph Scott and John Hickey — to hold stock in the Interlock consulting firm at a time that they held their state positions.

Mickey Lolich and Joe Coleman of the Detroit Tigers each had a 14-strikeout game last season. So did Dodger Sam McDowell as a member of the Cleveland Indians.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB Heart Attack Can Resemble Angina

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I read your article on nitroglycerin tablets. In 1966 I had a myocardial infarction, and in March, 1971, I had a heart attack. It is now diagnosed as severe angina. I am taking nitroglycerin pills all the time and they do help the pain. Doctors have told me the nitroglycerin tablets would not hurt me. In case of another heart attack and I am taking nitroglycerin tablets is it death or shock? Is it possible that one of the anginal pains could be the start of another heart attack? Also, what are the right amounts in the taking of these pills?

Dear Reader—A myocardial infarction and a heart attack are the same thing. So basically you have had two episodes of the same problem, both of which are complications of coronary artery disease. Angina or chest discomfort that you have is also a manifestation of coronary artery disease.

It is quite true that the onset of a heart attack can be exactly like angina. In fact one of the old medical differentiations between the two is that if the chest discomfort lasted for more than "half of a quarter of an hour," it was more than just angina. The implication being that it was a heart attack.

Now it is quite all right for you to be taking nitroglycerin tablets and your doctors are perfectly correct in telling you they won't hurt you. The discomfort you have experienced has been successfully relieved by the tablets which in itself is a diagnostic test for your problem. It is an entirely different matter to be taking nitroglycerin tablets for recurring attacks of chest pain that are known to be angina as opposed to the first episode of chest pain after months of no difficulty whatsoever.

Basically, if a person has not had anginal discomfort for a long period of time and then suddenly has an episode it is more likely heart attack.

I understand your concern that one of your anginal episodes might be a heart attack and the best thing I can tell you is that a person who repeatedly takes nitroglycerin for angina does develop a tolerance to the medicine. Thus, one pill is not likely to cause any major problems in someone who has been repeatedly taking the pills for anginal pain. Now, if the pain or discomfort is unusually severe or considerably different than previous episodes, then you would be wise to contact the doctor. The other point that will keep you out of trouble is that if one pill doesn't work and the discomfort persists, it is not angina. Don't take another tablet. See your doctor, since as I stated above true anginal attacks are of short duration.

Capital Bombing Still Unsolved Misgivings on What Says Candidates Bowed to Pressure on Busing

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — It was 1:32 on the morning of March 1, 1971, and the anonymous caller who said a bomb would explode inside the U.S. Capitol in exactly 30 minutes had his facts straight.

One year after that pulverizing blast, a $100,000 reward posted by Congress is still unclaimed and a long tangle of investigations, grand jury hearings and other court actions has yet to come to fruition.

The Capitol police force, thanks to an all-out recruiting drive, is now at its highest level in history. Plans are moving to install an elaborate $3-million surveillance net manned with 100 television cameras to watch silently over the home of the United States Congress.

The bomb had been laid carefully behind a false wall in a little-used restroom next to the senatorial barbershop.

The blast demolished the washroom, cracked and peeled the walls of nearby corridors and knocked out part of a stained-glass portrait of George Washington in the senators' dining room hundreds of feet away.

The call that heralded the blast was recorded in routine fashion. "This building will blow up in 30 minutes," the caller said. "You will get many calls like this but this one is real. Evacuate the building. This is in protest of the Nixon involvement in Laos."

There are virtually no visible scars remaining to point out to the hundreds of tourists who daily pass the explosion site in the Capitol's central corridor.

Repairs were finished several months ago at a cost of something less than $200,000.

Police at the Capitol's many doors have become somewhat less anxious about checking the contents of every lunch sack. But security is generally far tighter than a year ago. And it may get tighter. Legislation was introduced in the House recently to authorize an electronic security system, built around 100 closed-circuit cameras.

The bombing, in the aftermath of armed American and South Vietnamese penetrations into Cambodia and Laos, was claimed as the work of "The Weather Underground" in a letter—never authenticated—delivered to The Associated Press and other news agencies.

The one arrest in the case has been that of a 19-year-old antiwar activist who later said all she ever really wanted to do "was go up in the hills and raise vegetables."

Leslie Bacon, of San Bruno, Calif., denied repeatedly before a federal grand jury in Seattle that she had done anything wrong. She was jailed on a contempt citation for refusing to answer other questions even when granted partial immunity from prosecution.

Several other persons involved in the long case have refused to testify. At least three publicly denied involvement, using virtually the same words: "I didn't do the Capitol bombing—but I really dug it."

This was Chou En-lai speaking:

"The Chinese people are friendly to the American people and do not want a war with the United States. The Chinese government is willing to sit down and enter into negotiations with the United States to discuss relaxation of tension in the Far East and specifically in the Taiwan area."

The Chinese Communist premier spoke those words 17 years ago.

Recalling them, leaders in other nations of Asia may entertain some nagging misgivings about what went on between Chou and President Nixon.

Back in Washington after his meetings with Chou and Mao Tse-tung, the President reported that he agreed with the Peking leaders on "some rules of international conduct which will reduce the risk of confrontation in Asia and the Pacific."

The two pledged themselves to "conduct their relations on the principles of respect for sovereignty and territorial integrity of all states, nonaggression against other states, noninterference in the internal affairs of other states, equality and mutual benefit and peaceful coexistence."

Those are, word for word, the same "five principles of coexistence" that were much in the news 17 years ago when Chou represented China at an Asian-African conference in Bandung, Indonesia. Chou was a chief advocate there of the five principles.

Only a short time before the Bandung meeting, Chou had met in India with Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru. Both endorsed those same "five principles of peaceful coexistence."

They also agreed that the United States was a colonialist menace to Asia. That was seven or eight years before China and India went to war over their border dispute. Their relations remain bad to this day.

At least 90 per cent of Alfred Nobel's wealth came from peaceful uses of explosives he invented.

New York Mayor John V. Lindsay says three of his opponents for the Democratic presidential nomination caved in to political pressure in voting for a compromise antibusing measure in the Senate Tuesday.

The three—Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and George McGovern of South Dakota—interrupted their campaigns to return to Washington and cast decisive votes against an antibusing amendment that would strip federal courts of power to issue busing orders in school desegregation cases.

The amendment to the higher education-school desegregation bill had been adopted Friday 43 to 40 with all five of the Senate's presidential contenders absent, but it was defeated 50 to 47 on reconsideration Tuesday.

Muskie, Humphrey and McGovern then voted for a compromise amendment offered by the Senate leadership to give local school officials more authority in deciding whether to adopt school busing plans. That measure passed 63 to 34.

Lindsay, an outspoken supporter of busing to desegregate schools, said in Miami Tuesday night:

"The liberal leadership of the Senate caved in. I regard this as one of the saddest moments of the campaign, that liberal senators—including Muskie, McGovern and Humphrey—will bend in this fashion."

"This is a time to stand up and be counted regardless of the political consequences. The Senate here has run for cover under pressure from (Alabama Gov.) George Wallace."

Two Democratic presidential candidates were among only three senators who missed the voting Tuesday.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, claiming the strong antibusing amendment was unconstitutional and the compromise ineffective, continued his Florida primary campaign.

Sen. Vance Hartke, Indiana, campaigning in New Hampshire, called the busing issue "a complete phony" and said he wouldn't be pulled off a campaign to change the course of the nation "by some subsidiary issue."

In another political development, the deadline for entering the June 6 New Mexico presidential primary passed with six Democrats and two Republicans formally entered and reports that Lindsay's declaration of candidacy was in the mail.

New Mexico Secretary of State Betty Fiorina said she had received declarations from Democratic Sens. Humphrey, Jackson, McGovern and Muskie, Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York and Gov. Wallace. The two Republicans entered are President Nixon and Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr. of California.

Tuesday was the deadline for previously named contenders to withdraw from the April 4 Wisconsin primary ballot.

Says Contracts Unenforceable

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — All of the contracts between the state and a Houston, Tex., consulting firm are "unenforceable" because of conflict of interest on the part of four present and former officials who owned stock in the firm, according to a report made public Tuesday by Atty. Gen. Ray Thornton.

Thornton said, however, that it appeared that the state "suffered no financial injury" and had received goods and services for its money.

Therefore, if the state acted to recover the amounts spent on the contracts, which Thornton did not recommend, Interlock, Inc., the firm, also would be allowed to recover "the reasonable value of the goods and services it furnished the state."

Thornton pointed out that three contracts were still in effect and that "such contracts were into at a time when a conflict of interest existed."

"This will require a continuing evaluation by appropriate state officers to determine which regard to these contracts, whether the state has received full value in terms of goods and services for dollars spent," Thornton said.

It was reported last Dec. 24 that four present and former state officials involved in law enforcement and corrections had owned stock in Interlock.

They were John H. Hickey, former director of the state Commission on Crime and Law Enforcement; State Police Director William C. Miller, former State Police Director Ralph Scott; Marshall Rush of Pine Bluff, a member of the state Board of Correction.

Bumpers to Tell Plans

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers said Tuesday he would reveal his political plans this week or next week.

Although he has said the "probabilities are very high" that he would seek election to a second term as governor, Bumpers refrained, as he has in the past, from ruling about the possibility that he would run against Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.
